The Bar Improvement.

On the Queen of the Pacific went out yesterday morning the visiting board of engineers, which have been viewing the bar and discussing plans for its improvement since their arrival three weeks ago. We believe that a majority of the board are in favor of reporting for improvement on a scale commensurate with the interests involved, as the Standard very justly says:

"The men, who constitute the commission, after visiting the various sections tributary to the Columbia river exports, cannot fail to be favorably impressed with the requirements of the Northwest. The magnitude of our exports will be known to them through personal observation, and the amount required for this commercial improvement, which is by no means simply for the wants of Oregon, but also for eastern Washington and northern Idaho, an extent of territory greater and capable of producing more grain than any western state in the Union. In fact, this northwest coast is destined to become the great grain field in the United States, if not the world. So far as the bars in the Columbia are concerned, it has been demonstrated this season that they need form no obstacle to our export, and that sufficient water can be had at a trifling annual cost to admit of a safe and ready passage of any ship which comes to this port. The needs are in the bar at the mouth of the Columbia. That a safe and deep channel can be secured, we have not the least doubt, and we believe the commission will so report. That the northwest is entitled to a favorable consideration and a liberal appropriation at the hands of congress, none can deny who know anything of our importance as an exporting people. The entire union is interested in our prosperity. We add millions upon millions annually to our national wealth, and by the peculiar arrangements of the laws, we are compelled to sell to one party, a foreign customer, while we are of necessity obliged to buy our supplies of another. We trust this commission, while we confidently expect a most favorable report at its hands, will also lay before congress in its report, the importance of the enterprise and the value of our exports to foreign ports, with the prospect of the future, which at present is all in its infancy. When we consider that less than ten years ago we did not export anything to foreign ports, and it now takes annually over 250 vessels, we can scarcely contemplate what it will be in ten years hence. We need the paternal care in this matter of the general government. It is due us, and we trust we shall receive all that shall be needed. There is no national enterprise more deserving, and there is none that will more readily repay for its investment."

Those Pilot Bills.

YESTERDAY'S Oregonian, commenting upon the pilot bill introduced by Senator Reed, and which was published in full in THE ASTORIAN, says that it is a "deceitful measure," and declares that it should not pass the legislature, at the same time it commends the one passed by the Portland board of trade which is also defective. We are of the opinion, as already expressed, that neither one of the bills should pass in their present form, but that a bill can be prepared which while retaining the good, can be rid of the objectionable features of both at present under consideration.

We agree with the Oregonian where it says:

"This measure should be in no sense a subject of contention as between Portland and Astoria; nor is it. There is no rivalry between them in a matter that relates to the good of both and to the general welfare of the country.

But it is as unfair to urge the passage of such a bill as Judge Deady prepared as it would be to champion Reed's to the detriment of the first one. That is a good feature of Deady's bill that leaves the appointment or selection of the commissioners to the Portland board of trade, the Astoria chamber of commerce and the governor of the state, but how manifestly unjust it is to compel the pilots to pay the expenses of the commission and to allow river pilotage to be optional.

A Population of 50,155, 783.

The census bureau has issued a bulletin classifying the population in 1880 by nativity. The native-born were: Whites, 36,843,291; colored, 6,632,549; foreign-born, 6,679,943; total population, 50,155,783. Of the foreign-born 2,772,169 were natives of Great Britain and Ireland, 1,966,742 of the German empire, 717,084 of British America, 194,337 of Norway, 181,729 of Sweden, 106,971 of France, 104,541 of China, and the remainder represent all the countries of the earth. In 1880 the total population of Virginia was 1,512,663; the total number of persons in the United States who were born in Virginia was 2,118,460. Tennessee, population, 1,542,339; Tennesseeans in the country, 1,781,504; Ohio, population, 3,198,062; Ohioans in the country, 3,302,656; North Carolina, population, 1,339,750; total North Carolinians, 1,638,058; Kentucky, population, 1,648,690; total Kentuckians, 1,856,310; Georgia population, 1,542,180; Georgians in the country, 1,719,068; Alabama, population, 1,262,505; Alabamians in the country, 1,319,189; South Carolina, population, 995,577; South Carolinians in the country, 1,153,311; Vermont, population, 332,286; Vermonters in the country, 430,041; Maryland, population, 94,943; Marylanders in the country, 935,141; Maine population, 638,946; natives of Maine in the country, 745,272; Delaware, population, 146,608; Delawareans in the country, 155,517. In all the other states and territories the population is greater than the total number of natives of the respective states in the whole country.

The Boston Herald thinks that the alleged action of the readjusters in Virginia, in attempting to buy off a troublesome candidate, should excite no surprise. Do the virtuous men who uphold the raising of corruption funds by political assessments, suppose the money is to be used to buy sundry school books for little boys, or to pay for brass bands and chewed wind? Not a bit of it. They know that these collections are to be employed in carrying doubtful districts. And wherein is it worse to buy off a candidate than to buy votes or to bribe local leaders by the use of patronage?

PAXAMA has recently indulged in a series of destructive earthquakes. If that narrow strip of land would quake itself asunder and let the oceans flow together the world would be greatly benefited.
